NO RELIEF IN SIGHT

FOOD AND OTHER ARTICLES OF NECESSITY ADVANCE STEADILY IN PRICE

One of Glendale's meat dealers was asked Saturday if meets had come down any as a result of the government campaign against H. C. L. and profiteering. He replied that on the contrary there had been advances on some kinds of meat and that a raise of 2 cents on beef had been announced by the packers for the very near future. His idea was that the packers, controlling as they do, 85 per cent of the fresh meat handled in the country, can absolutely dictate prices and they have shown their power since the investigation into high prices was started. While not denying the Government's charge that never before had there been such a vast quantity of fresh meats in storage, they immediately lowered their prices to the consumer to from 2c to 5c a pound and advanced the prices to retailers, thus showing their indifference to the opinion of the public. Other articles of merchandise have advanced in price since the investigation started. Eggs which dropped several cents at first, reacted quickly and have since advanced more than 12 cents a dozen, until now they are retailing at 68c to 70c a dozen for the best. Sugar advanced nearly a cent in Los Angeles, but dropped three-quarters of a cent under a searching probe by the Fair Price Committee, which showed a 4 cents' profit by the wholesaler.

In the matter of shoes, investigation has shown a vast quantity of hides in the country and a letter in Monday's Evening News from the wireless operator on a freight steamer visiting Mexican and Central American ports, told of the great quantities of hides awaiting shipment to this country. The packers control the hide supply and they can say whether or not the green hides may be tanned and made into leather in sufficient quantities to meet the demand for shoes.

The holding by a small group of financiers of so large a per cent of the necessities of life for food and wear is a dangerous menace to the internal peace of the country.

PICNIC PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stamps of 204 West Lomita and Mrs. Stamps's sister, Mrs. M. L. Russell, of Riverdale Drive, entertained informally Saturday evening with a picnic at Griffith Park. The jolly party gathered around the well-laden picnic tables in the shade of the grand old trees and enjoyed the delicious dinner which was well-seasoned with laughter and happy social intercourse. Limericks at each cover with a "take-off" for each guest caused much merriment.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Widmeyre, Mrs. Perce Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Gillan, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Valk, Miss Lucile Pholes, Mrs. F. B. Cash.

HOME FROM OUTING

A. L. Baird and wife and Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Young arrived at home Monday evening from their trip to Northern California. They were gone four weeks and three days and never had a mishap; in fact, came back with the same air in their tires they started with, though they had traveled 1600 miles. They went 182 miles northeast of Sacramento and camped by Juniper Lake, at the foot of Mt. Lassen. They saw smoke coming from it twice and were told that was the first in two years. They killed four deer and brought home quite a bit of jerked venison. On the way home a number of mountain quail were shot and some of these they brought home with them.

On the return journey they stopped at Oakland where they visited Mrs. Burtscher, a sister of Mrs. Baird, who came to Glendale with them for a visit.

LAWLER BOMB CASE CLOSED

The Lawler bomb case seems to have been closed. After an exhaustive investigation the grand jury has declared that M'Gwire alone was responsible for the explosion whereby Oscar Lawler's home was badly wrecked, and he and his wife seriously injured. Both have since recovered. M'Gwire, it will be remembered, threw himself from the 11th story of the Hall of Records while being examined as a suspect and was instantly killed.

ORANGE CO. IN EARNEST

PEOPLE THERE HAVE TAKEN STEPS TO ORGANIZE MUTUAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

Already Orange county is well on the way toward owning its telephone system and regulating its rates. The Farmers' & Merchants' Association have their plans all worked out and the franchise for the company has already been advertised for sale. It is proposed to give free tolls throughout the county such service, of course, being limited to the county. The system will cost $1,000,000 installed ready for business and it is proposed that each subscriber will pay $100 for his phone, this to include a membership fee of $10 payable in advance. The balance is payable $2.75 a month for three years, after which a merely nominal monthly fee will be charged sufficient to cover repairs and operating expenses. Transients will have to pay the membership fee of $10 and then $2.75 a month for as long as they have the phone. If a subscriber wishes to quit the association he must surrender his certificate of membership, and if he sells his rights to another he must do this, also, and a new certificate will be issued to the purchaser. This rule is to prevent an accumulation of shares in the hands of a person or corporation.

This plan provides for a possible 10,000 subscribers at $100 each to pay the $1,000,000 required to construct the system. On this business a municipal system in Glendale for 4,000 subscribers would cost not to exceed $300,000 as there would be no long lines to construct and the light poles could be used.

CHARLES B. BOOTH

SON OF GENERAL AND MRS. BALLINGTON BOOTH TO SPEAK HERE

Charles Brandon Booth, son of General and Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, will speak in Glendale Wednesday evening at the Central Avenue Methodist Church when that church unites with the Central Avenue Presbyterian in the service. His subject is "The Reclaiming of the Prisoner," a theme on which he is entirely competent to speak, owing to his vital connection with the Volunteer Prison League, a work founded by his mother.

NORTONS ENJOY TRIP

Rev. C. R. Norton, who with Mrs. Norton is attending the National G. A. R. encampment at Columbus, Ohio, writes that Columbus is treating the visitors fine, he and Mrs. Norton are well and are enjoying their trip and that through the columns of the Evening News they wish to say "hello" to their many friends here.

Saturday they expected to go to the place of Rev. Norton's birth where he was to preach twice on Sunday. The last of this week they will go to Washington, Iowa, to visit friends.

HUNTINGTON LIBRARY GIVEN TO PUBLIC

It is now definitely announced that Henry E. Huntington, millionaire electric railway magnate of Pasadena, has given his collection of books, the largest in the world, to the public. He will build a magnificent library on his San Marino estate, Oak Knoll, Pasadena, to house the vast collection, worth many millions. When the building, which it is claimed will be the largest and finest library structure in the world, is completed, the books will be placed in it and both the building and its contents will be deeded in trust for the people to a library board Mr. Huntington has already appointed. In addition, he has willed to the public his magnificent collection of priceless paintings housed in the family mansion on Oak Knoll. Both home and paintings will pass to the people at his death.

KID McCOY VISITS SISTER IN GLENDALE

Norman Selby was in Glendale yesterday and today visiting his sister, Mrs. M. Judd. He is better known as Kid McCoy, and was formerly middle-weight boxing champion of America. After he quit the ring he went abroad and studied along health lines and the care of the body. Of late years he has been instructing movie actors on how to take care of their health and their bodies and in the art of self-defense.

READY FOR WORK

PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING MAKES PLANS FOR BUSY WINTER

The Glendale Federation Parent-Teacher Association held the first meeting of the school session Monday, September 15th, 2:15 p. m., at the Intermediate School, Mrs. A. A. Barton, president, in the chair. The enthusiastic suggestions given by those present to further the work along lines essential for child welfare bespeaks a busy season and the co-operation necessary to carry on. President Barton spoke of the summer work and stated in part she had attended all meetings of the district board. She urged that chairmen of legislation make it a point to see that all members in their district register in order to enable them to vote on important issues. President Barton also suggested that an effort be put forth to gain the Civic Center and if that is impossible at this time to concentrate on the swimming pool as an absolute necessity to Glendale. An executive committee of three to act on short notice together with President Barton and Secretary Mrs. F. W. Kille were nominated and accepted and are as follows: Mrs. E. L. Young, Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. R. C. Horner. A teachers' reception will be one of the functions held early in the season, Mrs. C. M. Van Dyke, chairman of courtesy, having the matter in charge. A letter from the Acacia Street Mothers' Club requesting that they be allowed to join the Federation was read and a unanimous vote of acceptance was rendered. It has been urgently re-

"SPEED DEMON" KILLED

FATHER TESTIFIES SON WAS TO BLAME IN ACCIDENT RESULTING IN HIS DEATH

The dreadful accident near Lankershim on August 27th, in which Raymond Thompson, son of a rancher, was killed, had its aftermath in Justice Brown's court in Los Angeles, Monday afternoon. George J. Cook, justice of the peace of Taft, had been charged with running into young Thompson with his auto and causing his death. At the trial it was proven that Cook did not collide with Thompson at all, but that the latter was racing with three boy companions, all on motorcycles, and when Cook approached in his auto they turned out, two on either side, to pass him. Young Thompson and a companion named Ray Newman turned too quickly and their machines capsized. Thompson was killed and Newman badly injured, though not fatally. The feature of the trial was the testimony of young Thompson's father that his son was a "speed demon" and boasted frequently of attaining a speed of 70 miles an hour on his motorcycle. He had bet $25 that he would win the race in which he met his death. Cook was acquitted of all blame.

OLD SETTLERS PICNIC

The Old Settlers will hold their annual picnic at Echo Park Saturday next, the 20th, at Echo Park as usual. It is hoped that as many residents of this section as can possibly do so, will attend, there being no limitation as to age or length of residence. These annual reunions are always very pleasant sociable affairs without any formality whatever and have a tendency to promote better acquaintance among our people. All are requested to be on the grounds, at the north entrance to the park, by noon, when the luncheon will be spread. Coffee will be served free. All are requested to bring their luncheon and individual dishes. J. C. Sherer is president of the association.

ELKS INITIATE SEVEN

At the regular meeting last evening of Elks' Lodge 1289, there were 17 members present from Fillmore and Pomona Lodge sent quite a delegation to visit and witness the putting on of the initiatory work, for which Glendale's team has become noted far and wide. Seven candidates were initiated, viz., Howard McGillis, B. E. Ames, Harry A. King, Homer B. Miller, Ralph C. Dodson, Anthony C. Gage and Owen S. Dibbern. It was decided to send the Lodge's officers to Whittier tomorrow night to put on the work for the lodge there.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK

CHIEF ENGINEER REAGAN TELLS OF VAST PROJECTS NOW UNDER WAY

James W. Reagan, Chief Engineer of the Flood Control Department of the county, was in the office of the Evening News Monday and gave the reporter a breezy talk in regard to the great amount of work his department is doing this year. He has eight pile drivers at work now on different projects, one small one up near the Canada boulevard bridge and another between Louise and Brand, both working on Verdugo Wash; one in the Los Angeles river below Vernon, one in the San Gabriel near the County Farm, another in the old San Gabriel channel north of Telegraph Road, another in the old San Gabriel channel just north of the Montebello bridge, still another in the Lexington Wash below El Monte and another in the same wash above El Monte. These are all simple jobs to those in Glendale. Then he is at work on two exceedingly large jobs, one the Devil's Gate dam in Arroyo Seco and the other a similar work in San Dimas canyon, but even larger. The Devil's Gate project is well along toward completion. It is 300 feet long extending between the side walls of the canyon, is 88 feet wide at the base and 12 feet wide with extension wings at the top to allow a double roadway and side walks. The regular spillway is at one side and on the other side a tunnel 500 feet long, 13 feet wide and 14 feet high has been driven through the mountain itself from the reservoir side to the arroyo below the dam. This has immense gates which can be closed at will, thus controlling perfectly the flow of the waters in flood times. Instead of a rush of flood water filling the arroyo from bank to bank and overflowing both sides in devastating floods, the flow can be checked at will to allow the subsiding of waters below the dam. When the reservoir has been filled the water will be 100 feet deep at the dam and extend back up the arroyo a mile.

The San Dimas canyon job is a dam of similar style, but larger, and built for the same purpose.

Other projects are 1200 check dams in mountain canyons, two foundations for dams in the Big Dalton mountains above Glendora, foundation excavations for a dam in Live Oak canyon, a similar work in San Gabriel canyon near Pomona and another in the San Gabriel river east of Artesia.

Last of all, there's a big job in Vernon, where a bend in the Los Angeles river is being partially straightened by cutting off a point of land and moving the material to the other side of the channel. Two giant steam shovels, two locomotives and numerous flat cars are kept working 24 hours a day, seven days in the week, in shifts of eight hours each.

AUTO STRIKES CAR

THEY COME TOGETHER AT BRAND AND COLORADO, BUT NOBODY IS HURT

Shortly after noon Monday an auto driven by Mr. McLean of 1329 East Colorado was proceeding west on Colorado just as a P. E. two-car train was coming in, making no stop at the Colorado street crossing. Mr. McLean saw the danger of a collision so swerved his machine sharply to the right and struck the front car of the train a glancing blow, taking off the steps. His left fender was smashed and the hub cap knocked off, but no one in the car was injured in the least. A little boy who was in the machine was considerably frightened and cried for quite a bit, leading some of the spectators to think he was hurt. As the accident occurred at the very doors of three auto sales agencies, one battery charging station and one auto supply station, the occupants of the machine received abundant sympathy and offers of aid.

COMMUNITY SING

The first meeting of the Community Sing for the new season will be on Thursday evening of this week in the High School auditorium, with the same leader as last year, Prof. Hugo Kirchoffer, who, by the way, said recently that Glendale and Hollywood were known all over the East, which he recently toured, as pioneers in the Community Sing movement, and that the contest between them last season was referred to by people he met on his trip, frequently. A large attendance is hoped for on the opening night of the new season.

TO COMPLETE OLD NATIONAL ROAD

A project under the Federal aid road act, filed with the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture, which will undoubtedly hold the record for length and cost for some time to come, is of unusual interest aside from its great length and cost. It contemplates, after the lapse of nearly a century, the completion of the Old National Road, extending from the Potomac to the Mississippi, which already has been largely improved as far west as the Indiana line. The Illinois improvement will extend from East St. Louis across the State to the Indiana line, traversing St. Clair, Madison, Bond, Fayette, Effingham, Cumberland and Clark Counties.

The proposed type of surface is monolithic brick and concrete pavement, the average cost of which is about $30,000 per mile. The proposed improvement includes also the construction of 40 bridge structures, of lengths ranging from 22 feet to 300 feet. At present the uncompleted portion of the highway is generally an unimproved earth road, which becomes nearly impassable at certain seasons of the year. There are, however near some of the villages, short stretches of macadam pavement, generally in very poor condition. The local traffic consists of approximately 60 trucks, 700 motor vehicles, and 50 horse-drawn vehicles per day, to which is added during the summer months a through traffic of about 20 trucks and 200 passenger motor vehicles.

HAIR AS AN INDEX OF CHARACTER

Everybody knows that a woman's crowning glory is her hair, but there are not many people who realize that a woman's character can be told by her hair as well as by her face and hands.

Coarse, straight hair shows evenness of character, and when light or dark denotes physical strength. When the hair is dark and straight its owner has, in addition to physical strength, an intense and passionate disposition. When coarse, dark hair accompanies development of jaw and full lips it indicates sensuality and a lack of fine feeling.

A woman with fine, straight hair, especially if it is dark in color, is usually of a firm and high-spirited nature, but loyal and dependable. She makes an excellent wife.

Very sensitive people have very fine hair, fine eyebrows and lashes. Fine hair also denotes love of refinement, great love of beauty and interest in art.

Golden hair, varying in tint, shows its possesor to be capricious in affections, nervous, sensitive and rather inclined to be touchy in regard to matters of a trivial nature. She is rather inclined to sulk when her wishes are opposed and sometimes makes herself extremely miserable without any real cause.

Pale hair and that shade usually called mouse color are signs of colorless nature. A pale-tressed woman's temperament does not show variation; she will act in a certain way under given conditions and there is no uncertainty as to her behavior.

The most common color of hair in England and America is mid-brown. It shows a happy blending of traits with a predominance of intellect over heart.

Red-haired people are generally supposed to be hot tempered. They are inclined to be hasty, but are never vindictive. This quickness of temper is due to impulsiveness and a love of speaking out what they have in mind. They are usually of a sunny disposition and are honest and truthful, but rather vain and eager for admiration.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Up at Santa Barbara a number of local people interested in child welfare paid the expenses of a summer camp for poor children, which closed recently with an average gain of about ten pounds per child in avoirdupois. Even counting the value of a child as no more than that of a hog, per pound, we'll wager the results paid for the expenses. And most parents, though not all, we'll admit, believe that children are worth more per pound than hogs are, even if they don't act sometimes as if they believed it. The Santa Barbara folks work on the theory that a child as well as a man or a woman has to have a little extra meat on his bones and a reserve pound or two of refreshments scattered along somewhere in his alimentary canal before he can get his gray matter to convoluting to best advantage. And in that they are eminently correct. The average person can't do good work, either physical, mental, or moral, if he is hungry all the time. It not only keeps unnatural and unhealthy visages hung up in front of his mental stereopticon, but developes weird ideas like Bolshevism and like crazy creeds.

THE TRAGEDY OF DEAD CITIES

There are many dead and dying cities in the world, and they lie scattered in the most unheard of places, from Siam to Rhodesia, from Mexico to Peru, from India to the hidden solitudes of Central Asia.

It should give us pause to think of their number and of our own littleness in the scale of time. It should teach us, though it has never taught any of them yet, how transitory are even the mightiest habitations of men, by how slender threads great empires are held up from ruin.

None of the men and women who thronged the streets of these cities could ever have conceived that places so full of thrust and vigor of life would one day be buried in the strangling jungle or lie, without a sound of wheel or human voice, silent under the desert sand.

There are so many of these cities in the east, and it is often a puzzle to know what led to their desertion. After the fashion of the east the traveler will be told all manner of fanciful histories, for, even today, the oriental accounts all material and reasonable explanations secondary to metaphysical abstractions.

So, according to local legends, these cities have been left on account of curses, miraculous events, prophecies, portents, the sudden whimsies of royalty, of the hysterical visions of holy men, but never through the malefactions of the being which was probably really responsible for the evacuation of at least half of them—the anopheline mosquito and her legacy of malaria.—Manchester Guardian.

PRESIDENT'S WARNING TO LABOR

The president's appeal for a cessation of industrial warfare, though rather tardy, we trust comes in time to save the country from a grave if not disastrous crisis. It ought to have special weight with the railroad workers, for from the forced enactment of the Adamson law down to the present moment Mr. Wilson has studiously withheld the restraint of his influence where labor has been carried beyond the limits of legitimate demand. If Mr. Wilson, therefore, at last speaks in warning the intelligent and responsible wage earner must realize that the situation is serious and that it is time for self-control and foresight.

The president does well to call the attention of the whole people, and especially of organized labor, to the gravity of our economic conditions and to warn against the catastrophe which persistent industrial conflict, with its huge waste, is preparing for us all. The multiplication of excessive demands and the reckless resort to strikes are piling upon the heavy and unescapable burdens of war-time another burden which all must carry forward. The gains won by labor, if forced without consideration of the general conditions of industry or of the urgent need of ourselves and of the world for increased production, will most certainly be lost when the accounting comes; when business weakened; reserves reduced; credit strained beyond endurance, culminate in a misfortune felt throughout the world and by the wage earner first and foremost.

Labor has little to complain of in the present attitude and policy of employers. Doubtless injustices remain in some quarters. But, in general, there never before has been a time when employers have shown so great a willingness to meet the needs of employes, to share with them profits made, to better conditions of work. American labor, in fact, has entered already upon a new era of increased earnings, of increased consideration. If the cost of living has gone high, wages throughout the country have had an unparalleled advance, and if in some cases the advance has not kept pace with that of living, in others it has outstripped it. Labor may well be asked now to consider first that it takes time for industry to adjust itself to new conditions, and second, that, while wage advances will not be lost if industry is enabled to prosper, the cost of living will recede with the disappearance of the abnormal conditions of wartime if production is not hampered. Thus labor today may look forward to a permanent advance—provided labor itself does not destroy the prospect. The president speaks a truth which every citizen should recognize, including every wage earner, and especially every worker who is being exhorted by radical leaders to make extreme demands or take drastic and destructive measures to enforce them.—Chicago Tribune.

IS CONGRESS REALLY REPRESENTATIVE?

The question is frequently asked, is congress really representative? Some light may be thrown upon the matter by noting the number of occupations represented in the present congress.

There are two hundred and sixty lawyers in the present congress. There have been more in other congresses. There are nineteen editors and publishers, a larger number than any previous congress has had.

There are eleven farmers and six labor agents in congress, eighteen bankers, ten merchants and four insurance men elected last November. There are three locomotive engineers, four newspaper reporters, two iron moulders, three lumbermen, a nurseryman, a mailer, a cowboy, a cartoonist and a dentist. The present congress counts among its number four school teachers, one orange grower, two shippers, one clergyman, one advertising agent and two automobile manufacturers.

It is noteworthy that avowed politicians are conspicuous by their absence. Perhaps all could qualify in this capacity, or perhaps only the forty members who claim no occupation or profession.

On the whole many lines of interest and activity converge in the present congress. Men are there of various ages and from many walks of life.

It is evident that congress can be just as representative as it wishes to be. And it needs to be so in this critical hour when divisions of supreme moment rest upon it for decision. Surely from so many men of many minds there will come forth wisdom and light.—Minneapolis Journal.

LARGEST COUNTY BOND ISSUE

St. Louis County, Minn., by a vote of about 9 to 1, carried on July 1 a proposition for the issuance of road bonds to the amount of $7,500,000. This is the largest sum ever voted or set aside for road building by any county in the United States. The second largest was that of Dallas County, Tex., voted a few weeks ago of $6,500,000.

He moved there in 1886, which was ancient history in modern California. FIRE IN NORTH GLENDALE HOME

An alarm of fire about 8:30 last evening called the department to the home of A. Pomery, 817 Ross street (old number), North Glendale, where a gas heater in a closet had set fire to the wall. A few jets of water put out the flames and the damage did not exceed $100. A very quick run was made by the department which probably saved the large house from complete destruction.

Life is very simple for the average man. All he has to do is to earn enough money to support his family, pay the wage-demands of organized labor, and profits to the employing corporations.—New York World.

HORNED TOADS NEEDED IN GARDENS

Horned toads are recommended by garden specialists as good things to have about, as their food is chiefly insects of the destructive type so dreaded by the amateur gardener. The toads are not very pretty, but they are harmless and their aid is certainly needed in view of the number and variety of insect pests.

CANNED MUSIC FOR ALL

Up at Delano a list of gramaphone records has been added to the books at the city library, and patrons may take them out five at a time and keep them for two weeks or less. And why not? Canned music is just as essential to good human development as canned letters (or literature), and it is just as truly the function of a public library to dispense it to those who would enjoy it and cannot afford to own a large library of it themselves, as it is to dispense good books to them. And besides, it might help to dispel the taste for jazz. That would pay for the expense many times over.

SENSIBLE GIRLS

One of the most sensible things we have read for a long time, and we hope it won't end in the paper, was the story in the South Pasadena Record the other day telling that all the High School girls there this year will wear dresses just alike,—middy uniforms with black sailor ties, and white skirts until fall, when blue serge skirts will be worn. White sailor hats are also part of the equipment. This uniform was decided upon by a committee from the girl students themselves. The idea is so sensible and so considerate of those who cannot afford good clothes, that it sounds almost too good to be natural. Human girls do not often do such things of their own accord, but when they do, it shows superior training at home as well as at school. The South Pasadena parents as well as the High School teachers must be very unusual folks. We would like to meet up with some of the ones responsible for the adoption of the uniforms. It would surely be refreshing.

SHREWD RANCHER

A watermelon raiser down near Norwalk was troubled by passing motorists stealing his melons, so he put a sign in front of his patch, "Warning—Six of these melons are plugged full of strychnine and nobody but me knows which ones they are." After that all passing motorists were strictly honest and upright.

The $25,000 bonds to rebuild the end of the pier at Redondo Beach, which fell into the deep channel off shore there last winter, have been sold to local banks there, and the pier will soon be an entirety again, so that fishermen can get into closer communion with those schools and colleges of mackerel and sea-bass and other members of the student body of the briny deep.

REMARKABLE EXPERIENCE OF ONTARIO NAVAL OFFICER

Traveling eighty-five feet through the water in an air bubble and being shot twelve feet into the air when the bubble reached the surface and burst, was the thrilling experience of Clair Kirk, commander of the United States submarine G-2, which went down, crippled, recently off the coast of Connecticut. Mr. Kirk is the son of Loring N. Kirk of Ontario.

Letters received by Mr. Kirk give details of the expreience. Six men were in the undersea boat with Mr. Kirk when it began to sink at the stern end. There was no covering on the hatch as it had been removed for repairs. When the water began to come into the main hatch Mr. Kirk gave the order for the crew to abandon the submarine and make for the surface. He himself remained in the conning tower trying to clear the vessel of water by air pressure.

When the water and air pressure became too great for him to endure, Mr. Kirk broke through the hatch and was carried at an enormous rate of speed to the surface in an air bubble possibly three feet in diameter. When the bubble exploded on reaching the surface he was shot into the air for a distance which he estimates at twelve feet.

Two other men of the crew besides Mr. Kirk were saved, the others drowning before a rescue boat could get to them.

In spite of his terrible experience Mr. Kirk is uninjured except for inflammation of the lungs and ears, which doctors state will pass away soon. In letters to his relatives he declares that never again will he claim to be unlucky.

For sticking to his station in the sinking submarine Mr. Kirk has been recommended for the coveted "Medal of Honor" of the navy. At present he is visiting his sister in Newcastle, Ind.

The Lompoc Record tells of a camping party from Atascadero that caught a lion in their camp one night and killed it. It measured seven feet ten inches from tip to tip, which was surely some lyin'.

WILL INSPECT HORSE MEAT MEANT FOR HUMAN FOOD

To open up the channels of trade for some of the inferior horses in this country that do not pay for their keep, and to increase the meat supply in some of the larger cities in the United States and abroad where horse meat is used for human food, the United States Department of Agriculture is authorized by Congress to inspect horse meat and horse-meat products. The amendment to the regulations governing meat inspection by the department was passed by Congress on July 24th, with an appropriation of $100,000 to carry on the work during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920.

While it is expected that as a result of this amendment inferior horses throughout the country will be slaughtered for human food, it will open a market especially for the small horses—many of them wild—on the western range. These animals are eating much of the limited supply of range feed which is needed by live stock that is better able to pay for its keep. Elimination of the undesirable horses not only will save feed for more worthy cattle and sheep, but will add hides to the leather supply and increase meat stocks.

Every establishment in which horses are slaughtered for the preparation of food products for transportation or sale in interstate or foreign commerce must be Federally inspected under the new regulations. All horse meat for export trade must be inspected. The slaughter of horses and the preparation and handling of horse meat must be conducted in establishments separated from those in which other animals are killed and handled. All horse meat or horse-meat products must be conspicuously labeled or branded: "horse-meat" or "horse-meat product," and must bear the statement, "U. S. Inspected and Passed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture." The regulations list a number of horse diseases which, if found in any animal slaughtered, will cause it to be condemned as food.

One of the most important reasons for the new regulations is that many foreign governments will not import horse-meat from the United States unless it is Federally inspected.

Briefly, in making possible the utilization of horses for meat, the regulations place the matter under Federal supervision, thereby insuring that the product is clean and wholesome.

The regulations, it is explained, merely provide for the inspection. The number of horses used for meat will depend on the extent to which horses are marketed for that purpose and likewise on the demand for the product.

RIGDONS MOVE TO GLENDALE

Nathan Rigdon, wife and son, Warren, moved to Glendale from San Diego last Saturday. Their goods have been stored in the temporary house being built for them at 601 North Central avenue and they are staying at a hotel for a few days till this is completed, when they will move in to stay until the beautiful permanent home, on which construction will begin at once, is completed. Mr. Rigdon is an old friend of L. W. Babcock of 413 North Jackson, whom he knew years ago in Rocky Ford, Colo. They kept up their friendship all these years though living in different cities. Both are rejoiced that they can now be together again.

WEDDING TONIGHT

This evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McLaren, 303 North Jackson, their daughter, Irene, will be united in marriage with Henry Flack, of Eagle Rock.

MANY WILL SEE PRESIDENT

Great preparations are being made in Los Angeles for the coming of the President next Saturday. Many Glendale people will, of course, embrace this opportunity of seeing and hearing Mr. Wilson, and weighing his arguments in favor of the Peace Treaty and League of Nations as they now stand.

The Mission Vineyards of 1,000 acres near Upland, one of the largest vineyards in the world, was sold the other day to a New York firm. Neither the price nor the purpose it was sold for were stated.

HOW TO AVOID INFLUENZA

Rev. S. G. Livingston, D. D., a South Pasadena minister, recently gave his congregation a discourse on "How to Avoid Influenza" in place of the usual evening sermon.

His arguments were that all medical opinions seemed to concur in the belief of its return, and cited three ways for warding off as well as combatting the disease. "Preparedness" was his war cry, and quoting one Irish saying, "Stop it before it starts," proceeded to impress on his hearers the fact that in its brief but too effective reign last year over 400,000 persons had fallen victims to the influenza.

"If a man is well in body it helps him to be clean in soul. Christ was called the Good Physician, and He was; yet the teachings of the Christian religion and the bringing of light into the world are doing more for humanity, vastly more, than in the early days. Teaching of the Bible has brought men to seek out the body to cure its diseases." Dr. Livingston, with an additional allusion to preparedness, advised his hearers of the vital importance of seeing a doctor; of the tendency of many to delay such precaution; of the disadvantage such delays have for physician as well as for patient, and of the fallacy of considering the cost of physicians' services against those of the undertaker.

He emphasized that the disease is infectious, is very similar to a cold, and that it invariably leaves some traces behind, chiefly pneumonia or tuberculosis. "Practice deep breathing; get pure air; always sleep in a well-ventilated room," he said.

He related the story of a traveling salesman who was a devoted adherent of ventilation, how he one time found himself in a stuffy room of a hotel. The window, so little used, could not be opened. He tried to reconcile himself to the conditions, but failing, reached for a shoe beside his bed, threw it at the imaginary window and went to sleep, strong in the conviction that air he wanted had been secured. He awoke the following morning to find that he had not demolished a window light at all, but rather a glass in the door of a bookcase in his room.

Dr. Livingston advises strict and effective care of the lungs as all important. "Walk erect. I noticed that some of our soldier boys when they first returned from the war walked erect, straight as yard sticks, but a few are now beginning to lop over like some of our high school girls, and some of the school boys also. Practice deep breathing; get pure air. Keep the stomach right, don't eat too much. Many people seem to fear they will starve to death, when the real fear arises in their possible overeating. Take exercise; most of us do our own gardening; cut our lawns and believe we have exercised. Indulge in games; bowling is good. It is said that those who bowl are never victims of appendicitis. Play games, exercise."

Dr. Livingston said he would show his hearers the best exercise he knew, the easiest, and well worth $10; also that as there were 100 or more in attendance, the indebtedness to him amounted to $1,000 and could be paid at the option of the debtors. With hands at side he raised them slowly and as if lifting a heavy weight, from waist line to well above the head and down again, never forgetting that the imaginary weight was heavy, very heavy. He declared that he seldom omitted this exercise before retiring nightly.

As a first aid in cases of pneumonia, where a physician is not readily obtainable, he advocates hot poultices of wormwood, placed on the chest, changed every ten minutes. He declared all physicians will tell you that is good.

He closed with reference to the Bible as the best doctor's book the world had ever had; that Moses had taught diagnosis, isolation; also that "fear of God and good habits will go a long way toward keeping one strong, happy and well."

Wonderful Opportunities in the Automobile Field

The history of American industries shows nothing which can compare with the rapid growth of automobile manufacturing. In the past few years a wonderful industry has been developed. In the United States alone there are over 500 factories at work on automobile construction, representing a capital of about $2,000,000,000. Besides there are about 32,000 dealers in the United States employing several hundreds of thousands of men and women.

The development of automobile delivery trucks and light wagons is proceeding rapidly and every year sees the introduction of new makes in large numbers.

The demand from factories, garages, and salesmen for trained men is a direct result of this marvelous growth. The supply of such men is small—their pay correspondingly high. This is the field of opportunity you can enter through the sure, easy Home-Study Courses of the

International Correspondence Schools
OF SCRANTON, PA.

Hundreds of thousands have proved it. The designer of the Packard "Twin Six" and hundreds of other engineers have climbed to success through I.C.S. help. For 28 years young men in offices, stores, shops, factories, mines, railroads—in every line of technical and commercial work—have been winning promotion and increased salaries through the I.C.S. Over 130,000 men are getting ready right now in the I.C.S. way for bigger jobs ahead. No matter where you live the I.C.S. will come to you. No matter what your handicap or how limited your means, the I.C.S. have a plan to meet your circumstances. No matter how small your previous education, the simply written, wonderfully illustrated I.C.S. textbooks make it easy to learn.

TRAVELING PICTURE GALLERY

A really worth-while sight is the scenic auto now on display at Bartlett & French's agency. Both sides, the back and even the fenders are covered with paintings, in vivid coloring, of the scenes passed through by the auto in tours out of and leading back to Salt Lake City, sketched in and colored by the master hand of a noted artist, who took the trips for that purpose. Among the most striking of the scenes are the painted desert and Grand Canyon of the Arizona.

OUR SOLDIERS IN SIBERIA

Mrs. M. Perry is in San Francisco awaiting the arrival of a transport from Vladivostok, Siberia, with wounded American soldiers, which was to arrive early this week. Her son, C. A., has been in Siberia for many months and many reports have come from there of the boys being wounded, prisoners or insane from the horrors gone through, so she has been very uneasy. There are four other Glendale boys in Siberia and the families of all of them are very anxious for definite news of them.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

A gentleman remarked to an Evening News reporter that Glendale is growing in population and in industrial pursuits, and now what is needed on the part of our citizens is constructive criticism,—that honest criticism given with a view of building up and not tearing down. Every observing man is aware that the Glendale water system needs additions and extensions, and there is no one to make these additions and extensions other than the taxpayers of the city concerned.

The trustees have presented a statement setting forth clearly the needs of the municipal water system. It is folly for a man to denounce this statement as being visionary because it is not,—it deals with real facts and figures. In the minds of some there might be deductions or additions, and suggestions made should be kindly considered by the Board of Trustees. Do not raise the cry that the money for the improvements will not be wisely spent, but consider it your duty to aid in seeing that the money is wisely spent. Every citizen has a responsibility resting upon his shoulders, and to shirk the responsibility is cowardly. If the City of Glendale is governed by efficient men we deserve the credit for electing to office such men. If on the other hand the city is not wisely governed, the blame rests upon the people who have the right of franchise and do not make proper use of it.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ENROLLMENT

Following is the first day's enrollment of the Grammar Schools of the city:

Intermediate	291
Acacia	63
Broadway	217
Central Avenue	160
Cerritos	209
Doran Street	59
Colorado	268
Columbus Avenue	179
Pacific Avenue	193
Magnolia	39
Total	1678

This number is 20 less than the first day's enrollment last year, but that is of no significance as the first day is no index to the total for the year.

PARK AVE.'S PEACH ORCHARD

On the north side of Park avenue between Brand and Glendale avenue is the finest collection of peach trees in Glendale. There are more than a hundred of them and they are distributed on several lots. The houses are all set on the back of the lots with the peach orchards in the front. There are several varieties of free stones and many trees of fine clings, Orange, Lemon and Phillips varieties. Where the trees have been pruned and irrigated the fruit is especially fine. One of the residents of this section, Wm. Hedges, recently picked 12 Orange Clings from one of his trees that weighed 10 pounds. These are all gone now, but the others, the white varieties, are at their best.

Over at Avalon the Islander says there is no need of a bathing girls' parade like they have at Venice, as they have it every day, from daylight till nearly midnight. The Islander is attempting unfair means to draw sightseers from the other beaches.
